59.7 percent of voters in favor, 60 percent required

Jail bond issue narrowly defeated, recount expected

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
The Hancock County Citizens Criminal Justice Facility Committee will ask for a recount on the jail bond election, chairman Terrence Feeney said yesterday.

According to Feeney, the committee was to meet either Wednesday or Thursday to "take a hard look" at the results.

If a recount fails, Feeney said he did not know what steps might be taken next toward a new jail for Hancock County.

The issue was defeated by only 0.3 percent—maybe 30 votes, according to Feeney—with 59.7 percent of the required 60 percent of voters approving the issue.

Feeney said he felt the issue failed because a number of people did not vote on three special issues on the ballot.

"If you compare the total number of votes for circuit clerk to the total number of votes on the bond issue for the jail, there was a big difference," he said.

"That was where the discrepancy came in."

"A lot of people in the outlying areas did not vote on the bond issue, and those who did voted against it," he said. "I think the jail issue was clear, but they were confused by the constitutional amendments."

Unofficially, voter turnout for Tuesday's election in Hancock County was about 8,000, or 40 percent.

Registrar of Voters Jerry Heitzmann reports about 20,000 registered voters in Hancock County.

Unofficial results for the jail bond issue show 4,413 votes for and 2,977 against.

Lana Noonan, secretary for the Criminal Justice Facility Committee, noted that votes by affidavit had not been counted Tuesday night when failure of the jail bond was announced.

"The voters have issued a very serious mandate to the Board of Supervisors," Noonan said Wednesday.

"The popular vote shows that they are very serious about their protection and about crime."

Noonan also expressed disappointment

ment that the Board of Supervisors did not campaign more actively for the jail bond.

"Only two of our supervisors—Sam Pernicaro and James Trivica—got really involved," she said.

"The committee worked diligently for eight months, and I'm sorry the board as a board collectively did not join us."

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, elected Tuesday to a second term after soundly defeating opponents Fairley Necaise and McCormick Wheeler, said Wednesday he feels the requirement for a 60 percent affirmative vote needs to be changed.

"If a candidate gets one more vote than the other guy, he's elected for four years," he commented.

Peterson said he felt people who voted against the jail weren't against building it but disagreed with the plan presented.

"Everybody had a different idea of how it should be handled."

Some felt a new courthouse and jail complex should be built elsewhere, and some felt the proposed facility design was "too good" for prisoners, he said.

"Some people might have had the wrong idea about what type of facility we were planning," he said, "and felt that prisoners should not be coddled."

"We were trying to build a jail that met the minimum requirements and standards set by the federal government."

Peterson emphasized that the plans were designed after careful study of current need and predicted future growth. "The facility as planned should have been adequate for at least the next 20 years."

Also, he said, "A lot of people didn't realize that part of the plan was to pave an area adjacent to the Sea Coast Echo offices for parking."

"And we could have closed off the street behind the jail and used it for parking, too," he added.

Peterson said he felt an increase in taxes was a "small factor" in the bond issue, noting that taxes would have risen only $5 to $7 per year for each $100 of county taxes.

He expressed satisfaction with the work of the jail committee, and said he felt affirmative coverage by the news media helped achieve the 59.7 percent vote.

"It will be up to the Board of Supervisors to take further action, either to drop it or go some other route to try to get a new jail facility."

"Judges might not admit it, but I feel a lot of them take into consideration the amount of space in jails and penitentiaries when they sentence people," he said. "They pretty much have to."

Prosecuting Attorney John Genin also expressed disappointment Wednesday, saying "people who voted against the jail were either uninformed or misinformed."

"Anyone who walked through the jail would have to know we have a dire need for a new one," he said.

Genin said if a recount is not successful, "we'll have to gear up and do it again, because it's absolutely necessary. We have to keep trying until we succeed."

SENATOR TAYLOR—Bay St. Louis City Councilman Harry Favre, left, congratulates Gary Eugene Taylor as early election returns are received at campaign headquarters at the Landmark Restaurant in Bay St. Louis. Taylor received a majority of the votes in each of the three counties, Hancock, Harrison and Jackson, in the newly formed Senate District 46. Unofficial totals show Taylor with 8,075 votes or 61 percent of the total. Taylor carried every precinct in Hancock and Harrison Counties. Returns from Jackson County were incomplete at press time. Bay councilman wins Senate race

Bay St. Louis City Councilman Gary Eugene Taylor came out winner in the three-man race for a newly-created Senate District 46 seat, beating Republican Russell D. Thompson of Ocean Springs and Independent Jerry Ladner of Waveland.

District 46, the result of redistricting, includes portions of all three coastal counties, Hancock, Harrison and Jackson.

Taylor received a majority of votes in all three counties and carried every single precinct in Hancock and Harrison Counties.

Unofficial returns show he won 4,921 votes in his home county out of the approximately 7,500 votes cast in Hancock County in that race.

The unofficial returns give Taylor an overall total of 8,075 votes, or 61 percent of the total cast.

Charles Gottschalk, chairman of the Hancock County Election Commission, confirmed Wednesday that ballots in 22 of the 24 Hancock precincts participating in the District 46 race listed Thompson as an Independent candidate.

The error was corrected by about 2:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Thompson was not available yesterday to say whether he has decided to challenge the election on the basis of that error.

Bay St. Louis City Clerk Edward Favre said Wednesday that the Bay St. Louis City Council will have to pass a resolution setting a date for a special election to replace Taylor on the City Council.

The council will hold its regular meeting, postponed from Tuesday, tonight and the matter may come up then, Favre said.

Michoud gets $133M contract

Martin Marietta Aerospace has received a $133 million contract from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to design and build new tools to increase the production rate of Space Shuttle external fuel tanks to 24 per year by 1988.

The work, for the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Alabama, will be performed at the company's Michoud Division in New Orleans.

Martin Marietta currently is producing the expendable external tanks for the first 30 Space Shuttle flights.

Tools to be built will vary in size from small drill fixtures to tools used to trim and weld 30-foot diameter sections of the external tanks.

Included in the contract are detail machine tools, welding and stress analysis assembly tools, test equipment, transportation and handling tools, and sophisticated machinery used to apply insulation material to the external tanks.

The work will include rearrangement of some existing tools in the 43-acre factory to expedite the production flow, and improve manufacturing efficiency.

A modification center, where parts can be re-worked or modified without interrupting the assembly line also is planned.

Martin Marietta has delivered 12 external fuel tanks to NASA so far—five this year.

Two additional tanks, 154 feet long by 26 feet wide, are scheduled for delivery by the end of 1983.

One tank is used for each Shuttle flight and NASA plans to increase the numbers of Space Shuttle launches each year to 24 missions in 1988.

Ceremonies to honor all veterans

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Annual Veterans Day parade and ceremonies sponsored by the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139, Bay St. Louis will be held Friday.

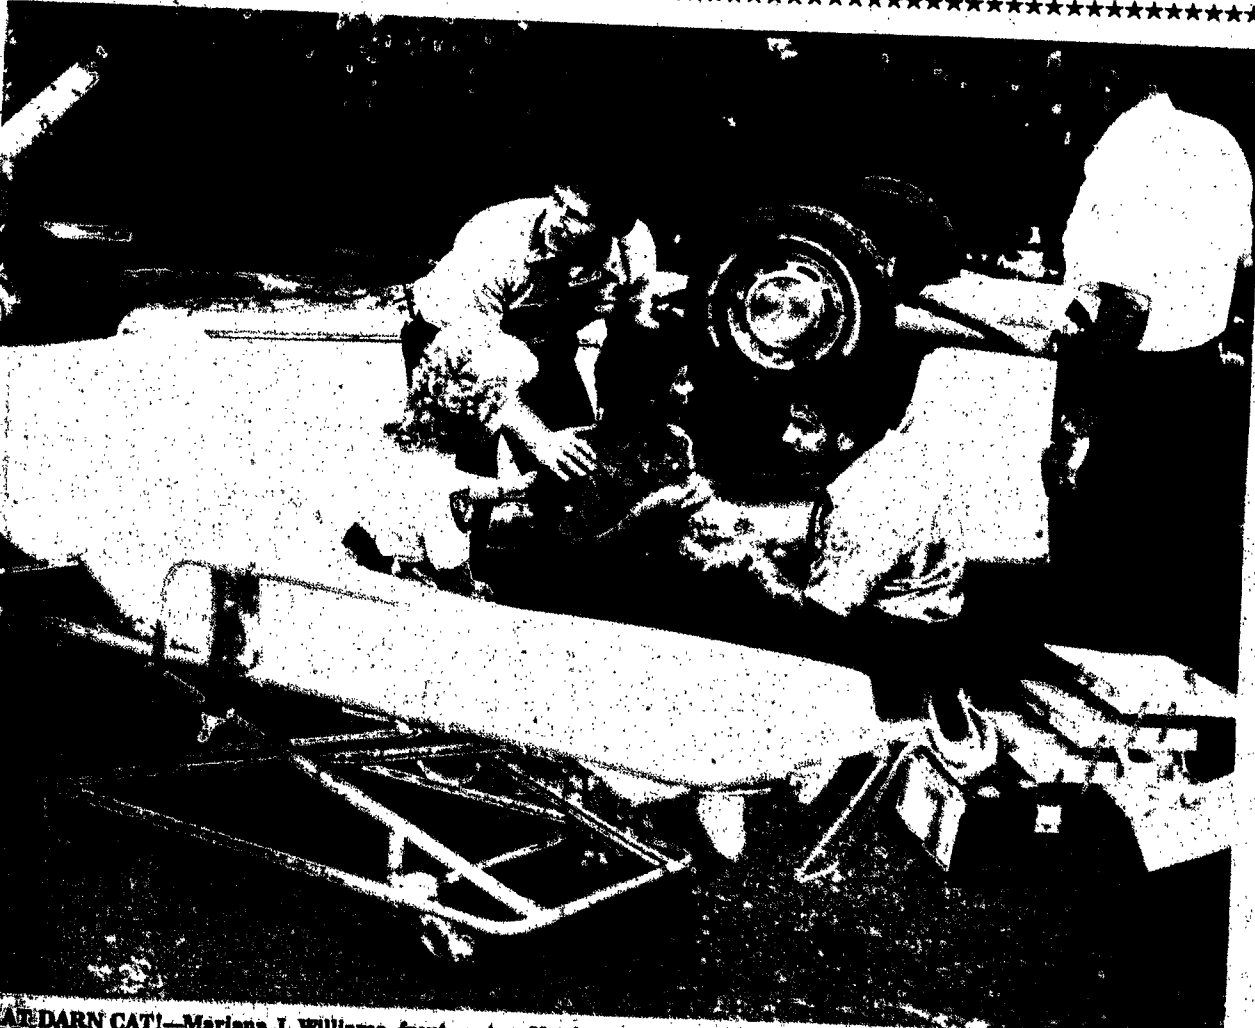

John Wilkerson, Veterans Day chairman, reports a special speaker has been invited to give an address on Americanism.

A parade of marching groups and floats will form at 9:15 a.m. at Bay Junior High, Carroll Avenue and will promptly begin at 10 a.m.

The parade route will be from Bay Junior High to Beach Boulevard, to Main Street, up Main Street to Second, then to Union Street, Union to the beach, then back to Main at the courthouse.

Wilkerson said, "We encourage participation by all veterans, their families, students, and marching groups, so we can pay tribute to the men and women who served our nation so well."

The ceremonies at the courthouse are scheduled following the parade at around 11 a.m., Wilkerson added.

THREATENED CAT!—Mariana J. Williams, front center, 33, of 601 West Dr., Bay St. Louis is comforted by Auxiliary Chief Ed Anderson, front left, of the Bay St. Louis Police Department and Mobile Medic Ambulance attendants Louis N. [unclear], standing left, of Pass Christian and Dominick San [unclear], kneeling right, of KHA. Bay St. Louis Police Chief [unclear] Williams, standing right, reports Ms. Williams lost control of her vehicle in the 500 block of DeMontluzin Street in Bay St. Louis about noon Monday when she attempted to hit a cat which had darted into her path. The vehicle, a Pinto station wagon, skidded on a wet shoulder into a ditch and overturned. Ms. Williams was treated for facial cuts and bruises at Hancock General Hospital and released, according to hospital spokesman Mary Perkins. (Echo staff photo by Edgar Perez)

Waveland Players present "The Murder Room" at Bay Star Theatre

At 8:15 p.m. tonight, tomorrow and Saturday, the Waveland Players will perform "The Murder Room" at Bay Star Theatre on Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis.

Written by Jack Sharkey, the play is a fast-paced mystery-farce revolving around the Hollister family and the events which follow Edgar Hollister's death.

Dick Ehrbright plays Edgar, an atypical member of the British landed gentry who is much slyer than he seems to be.

Mavis Templeton Hollister, Edgar's second wife, is played by Susan Smith Stevens, who adds a touch of class to an otherwise hard, neurotic character.

Lottie Malloy, the Hollister maid, is portrayed by Edith Bierhorst Back. Lottie is loyal to the family, but obviously not overly fond of the new Mrs. Hollister.

Inspector James Crandall and Constable Abel Howard, investigators of Hollister's disappearance, are played by Frank Gray and Patrick Neely.

Lori Ling has the role of Edgar's daughter Susan, a naive young woman whose brain, dense as a London fog, might compete with Edith Bunker's for the Dingbat of the Year award.

Susan's fiancé, Barry Draper, is played by Tommy Worrell. The one sane character in this cast of fools, Draper is a wealthy American.

Directed by Ted Stechmann and produced by Dottie Overal, the play is reminiscent of the old Abbott and Costello word games and sight gags.

"The Murder Room" is being performed one weekend only. Tickets, $4 each, are available at the door.

THE IMPACT A NEW HOSPITAL WILL HAVE ON HANCOCK COUNTY...

The construction of a new hospital for Hancock County has been much in the news lately. In order to clarify many points and questions being asked by the public, the Hancock

General Hospital Board of Trustees would like to take this means to answer some of these questions.

Did You Know

The construction of a new hospital for Hancock County has been much in the news lately. In order to clarify many points and questions being asked by the public, the Hancock General Hospital Board of Trustees would like to take this means to answer some of these questions.

an increase to $2.8 million and $3 million in 1985 and 1986, respectively.

1. Hancock General Hospital currently has a $5.4 million operating budget in Hancock County, and projects operating budgets of $6.5 million and $7.6 million in 1985 and 1986, respectively.

2. Hancock General currently employs 195 people, making it one of the largest employers in the county. A new facility will mean more jobs for people in Hancock County, thereby also producing more revenue for the area.

3. Hancock General pays $2.6 million in employee salaries and benefits, and projects

4. Approximately 70% of Hancock General's employees live within Hancock County, and spend the majority of their salaries within the county. A new facility, which would create more jobs and increase salaries, would mean more revenue for the county in sales taxes, etc.

5. Hancock General has committed itself to providing its patients with the highest level of care, but also to educating the public in the prevention of illness. A new facility would afford a greater opportunity for us to expand our educational programs for the public.

6. A new facility would definitely improve the aesthetic value of Hancock County, with a modern-looking building and modern interior. It would also provide the patients with more comfortable, modern surroundings, thereby assisting them in recovering more readily.

CONCLUSION:

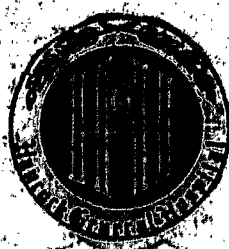

Again, our conclusion that a new facility is necessary is based on the following major reasons:

- The cost of upgrading the present facility.
- The difficulty of adding to the existing structure.
- The age of the original building and systems.

D. The potential benefits of relocating the hospital on a site which would be more accessible to the members of the community which it serves.

E. The lack of disruption of health care services during construction and renovation.

F. The impact—economically, educationally and aesthetically—on Hancock County.

Hancock County Schools continue battle against AA Classification

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
Hancock County School District has apparently lost its battle to retain its 'A' classification with the Mississippi High School Activities Association, but board members Monday instructed attorney Joseph Gex to see if anything more can be done.

The board also voted to ask Dr. Woodrow Marsh, association director, to meet with board members to discuss the matter.

Hancock North Central High School Principal Donald Hillman, who also serves as athletic director, explained that the school was classified 'AA' after he filed an application with the Mississippi Commission on School Accreditation in October 1982 and inadvertently included 32 seventh and eighth grade special education students as part of the high school enrollment.

He did not learn that the school's classification had been changed until December, at which time he initiated efforts to correct the mistake.

In spite of being told several times that his revised figures would be accepted, Hillman received a letter last week stating that the Mississippi High School Activities Association will not change its classification.

This means that Hancock North Central High School will have to compete with larger 'AA' schools in basketball, baseball and other athletic events.

The school did compete with 'A' schools during the just-completed football season, but classification is for a two-year period.

Hillman noted that enrollment is increasing, and that 50-60 students in the Lakeshore area, properly part of the Hancock County school system, will not be able to attend Bay St. Louis schools next year as they have in the past.

This increase will probably bring the enrollment up to the 450 enrollment figure for 'AA' classification.

Enrollment in grades 10, 11 and 12 last year, when the application to the accreditation commission was submitted, was 420.

Enrollment this year is 447. Hillman also said "there is a strong possibility that in January 1984 every school will be reclassified in a quad situation based on enrollment."

He said he was particularly distressed that he was not officially advised of the change in classification.

"How can you change a school's classification and fail to notify them that there has been a change and the reason for the change?" he asked.

Head Football Coach Irvin Fayre urged the board "to take immediate action for our football team and our kids. The school needs to clear its name of any wrongdoing."

"I don't think it's right for our sports to be penalized by playing as an 'AA' school against schools that have up to 1,800 students," he said.

Doug Neale, president of the 50 Yard Line Booster Club, also asked the board to take any action necessary, noting that other activities, such as band, will be affected also.

Board members approved several requests for school staff to attend meetings:

—Joannette Handshoe, special education coordinator, to an Advisory Board Committee meeting of the Hattiesburg Learning Resource Center in Hattiesburg Nov. 16;

—Hancock North Central librarian to a Mississippi Dissemination Program conference in Jackson Nov. 10;

—Randolph and board members to a meeting on the Education Reform Act to be presented by Gov. William Winter in Jackson Nov. 9;

—Superintendent and board members to an annual PTA Legislative Conference in Jackson Nov. 17 where the newly-elected governor will talk about his educational program;

—Randolph to a public hearing on revisions to the Standards for Accreditation of Elementary and Secondary Schools in Jackson Nov. 18;

—Assistant Superintendent and all principals to a regional workshop on Evaluation as it Applies to the Aim Program at Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College Nov. 17;

—Superintendent and assistant superintendent to the 1983 annual meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools in New Orleans Dec. 11-14; and —Superintendent and board members to 1984 National School Boards Association conference in Houston, Texas, March 31-April 3.

Randolph advised the board that the proceeds of the lease of school land to Mississippi Power Company have been invested.

On his recommendation, the board agreed to earmark $100,000 of that money for the purchase of five new school buses, to be delivered after school is out in the spring of 1984, and voted to advertise for bids.

Also on Randolph's recommendation, the board voted to set aside $750 for the purchase of student desks, tables and, if available, filing cabinets.

Randolph advised that Pearl School District has a surplus of desks which it is selling for $10 each.

New school desks cost about $50, Randolph said.

The board voted affirmatively on a motion by George Ladner to pad the walls of the 'time out' room for emotionally-handicapped students at Gulfview Elementary as soon as possible.

Randolph reported that the Hancock schools were visited by a consolidation team from the State Department of Education about two weeks ago.

The team, he said, is collecting data on such things as number of students, pupil-teacher ratios, distance students travel to and from school and curriculum.

After the Education Finance Committee has gathered and reviewed all data collected statewide, Randolph said, it will submit its recommendations for school consolidation to the lay Board of Education in about a year and a half.

In other business, the school board approved:

—An extension on Whitfield Timber Company's contract for cutting marked timber on Section 16 lands, due to adverse weather conditions;

—Use of the cafeteria at Charles B. Murphy Elementary by Pearlington Cub Scouts on Nov. 14;

—A field trip to Audubon Park and Zoological Garden in New Orleans for Gulfview Elementary fifth graders on Nov. 18;

—Use of the cafeteria by Hancock North Central Elementary Booster Club on Nov. 15 for the Elementary Football Banquet;

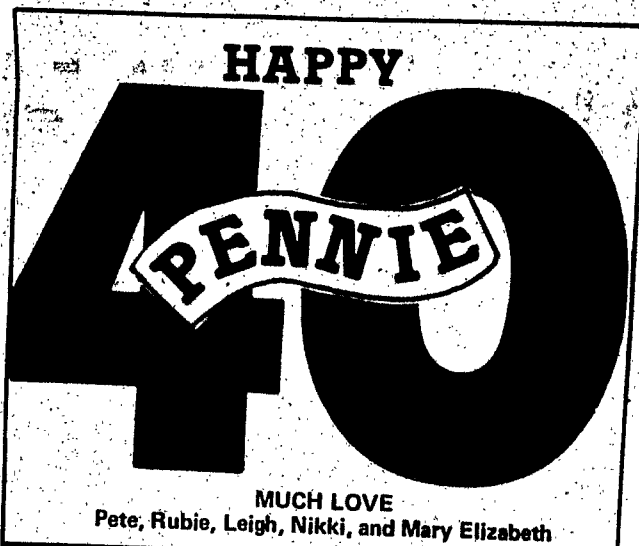

—The resignation of Curtis Thaxton as bus driver and the employment of Millie Breun as temporary full-time bus driver;

—Numerous Interfund Loans and the October Docket of Claims.

The board gave permission to Millie Breun to park her school bus at her home because it is only one-half mile from the beginning of her bus route; otherwise, she would have to drive the bus about six miles from the school to the bus route beginning, Randolph said.

Following an executive session of about 15 minutes, the board voted to transfer a student from Gulfview Elementary to Hancock North Central to attend special education classes that are not available at Gulfview.

The board recessed until Monday 6:30 p.m., at which time it will consider personnel matters.

Dubuisson named chief

By ELLIS CUEVAS

John Dubuisson has been named chief of police for Pass Christian by the mayor and council, effective Nov. 1. Dubuisson was named on an interim basis on Oct. 21, following the resignation of Chief Edward Alley Jr.

Dubuisson, a member of the Pass Christian department for eight years, served three and half years as an investigator.

He is a native of Pass Christian and graduate of Pass High School, and an Army veteran of the Vietnam conflict.

A graduate of the Mississippi Police Academy, Dubuisson has also attended numerous law enforcement seminars. The new chief said his staff consists of nine officers, with Anthony Johnson as assistant-chief.

The department also has the support of an active Auxiliary Police Unit of eight officers.

The Churchwomen of Christ Episcopal will serve their annual Harvest Dinner tonight from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

The event will be held at Virginia Hall, 912 South Beach Blvd., Bay St. Louis.

We have enjoyed the fine dinner prepared by the ladies of Christ Episcopal Church.

A donation of $5 for tickets at the door is requested. Take-out dinners will be available.

So if you would like to get your wife out of the kitchen tonight, we would recommend you take her to the Harvest Dinner.

All proceeds from the fund raiser go to support the ecumenical work the women do in the community.

We hope to see you at the dinner.

Many folks are under the impression that the Hancock County Farmers Market is not open because of the cool weather.

We visited the market the other day and were amazed at the amount of fresh grown produce that is now available.

Such items as crisp fresh turnips, greens, snap beans, tomatoes, squash, pecans, potatoes, cucumbers, and you can go on and on. One farmer even had a refrigerated truck with home-made sausage.

In conversation with several of the local farmers, they all report good fall crops are now available.

The Farmers Market is at the Hancock County Fairgrounds, Longfellow Drive and is open on Saturdays and Wednesdays from 7 a.m. to noon.

It appears that elections are now over with for a while with the General Election behind us.

On Wednesday we noted quite a few candidate signs around Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

We hope that all of the signs will now be removed in order for us to start cleaning up our communities.

We did note several signs not of political nature on some utility poles while out checking with a state beautification representative on Tuesday.

It is his understanding and also ours that it is illegal to post signs on utility poles and especially along highways.

The Annual Veterans Day ceremonies sponsored by the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139, Bay St. Louis is scheduled for Friday.

Festivities begin with a parade which forms at Bay Junior High on Carroll Avenue at 9:30 a.m.

All marching groups, students, scout troops, and veterans and auxiliaries are invited to march.

Area high school bands are scheduled, as well as several groups from Keesler Air Force Base.

A special speaker has been invited to make a Veterans Day address on the steps of the Hancock County Courthouse at 11 a.m., according to John Wilkerson, Veterans Day chairman.

We are hoping there will be a large turnout for the parade and Veterans Day address, as the festivities will honor all veterans.

Special post season football will be underway on Thursday (tonight), and Saturday in Hancock County.

Tonight the ninth grade Hancock North Central Hawks, who won the Deep South Conference championship, will meet the Bay High Tigers in the Mullet Bowl.

The two teams played earlier this year, and Hancock took a scant two-point victory, so it should be an interesting football game.

The bowl game will be held in Tiger Stadium, with a 7 p.m. kick-off.

Members of both teams deserve a large support for this game, as both teams had good seasons.

On Saturday night in high school action, at Hancock North Central Stadium, the Bay High Tigers will meet the Raleigh Lions in the Annual Wendall Ladner Memorial Bowl.

Snuffy Smith, Tiger head coach has done a fine job with Bay High this year, racking up a 9-1 record for the season.

The Tigers depended on a strong defensive squad in the early season. They still have the power in defense, and now have added some explosive offense to complement the defense.

Bay High will be going all out to make their season record 10-1, and we hope Tiger supporters will follow them to Hawk Stadium Saturday. We know a lot of Hawk supporters will be in the stands pulling for the Tigers.

The kick-off is scheduled for 7 p.m.

MAGNOLIAS FOR THE MAGNOLIA STATE—Cad Shipp, administrative assistant of the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, on Tuesday displays the size of magnolias to be planted along some of Mississippi's 28 highways. It is part of 'Mississippi's Avenue of Magnolias Project', and some will be planted on I-10 and Hwy. 607 in Hancock County. Shipp said this project is under the guidance of 'Keep Mississippi Beautiful.' Funding for the 'Avenue of Magnolias' is through private contributions, with a minimum of $5. A permanent record of each contribution will be on display in the Mississippi Department of Archives and History, and they can be planted in memory or honor of someone. Persons interested in further information or making a contribution can send it to, Keep Mississippi Beautiful, Inc., P.O. Box 1609, Jackson, Ms. 39205. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

Hancock Sheriff's Department provides election results reporting service

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir,
I would like to commend Ronald Peterson, Hancock County sheriff; his deputies, secretaries, and dispatchers for the fine job they do on election nights.

I was at the Sheriff's Department Tuesday night and observed the courteous and efficient manner in which these people handled literally hundreds of telephone calls pertaining to the results of the election.

Almost all of these people were there on their own time, keeping running totals of each race, so they could pass it on to anyone who called.

This is just another fine service that Sheriff Peterson and his staff provide the people of our community. They deserve a lot of credit and I personally feel good knowing they are working for us.

Sincerely,
Judge Lee Klein

Closing of County Home, which operated for 50 years and through the Great Depression, appals reader

November 9, 1983
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis, Ms.

Dear Editor:

In the Nov. 6, 1983 issue of your paper, you urged voters to vote "yes" to the bond issue for a new county jail.

Yet your paper failed to oppose the closing of the Hancock County Home for the aged poor.

In the same edition of your paper telling of the plans to close the home, you failed to make known what members of the Hancock County Board voted to close the home.

In it you quote A.A. Kellar, president of the board, as saying, "There is no way we're going to put these people out on the street, and we are not going to shirk our responsibilities."

I challenge Mr. Kellar to make public the workable plans he has to care for these residents who are in their 70's and 80's, and who have considered the County Home as their home for many years.

The lack of funds is given as a reason for the closing. Yet for over 50 years, Hancock County has been able to care for these needy elderly people.

It is unbelievable that our county is in such financial straits. Is this due to poor management?

Sincerely,
L.L. Ladner

Veni, Vidi, Vici—the fire ant may be a Roman descendant with its approach to conquering new territories

An Open Letter Address to
Mr. Jim Buck Ross
State Commissioner of Agriculture
State Office Building
Jackson, MS 39205

Dear Mr. Ross:

The purpose of this letter is to discuss with you the possibility of reinstating distribution of ant poison through county agricultural agencies throughout the State of Mississippi.

Fire ant control is important to every person living within this State. "Go to the ant, thou sluggard," admonishes King Solomon in his book of Proverbs, "consider his ways and be wise."

Here in Hancock County we do not have to go to the ant. The ant comes to us! They come. They stay. And they conquer.

They have taken over much public property including the lawns of the Hancock County Courthouse and that of the Hancock County Library System, as well as many private properties, and they are digging in, building upland becoming more of a threat every day.

We should declare war! One individual soldier cannot win this battle against an infestation that is rapidly ravaging our land. It will take united efforts and a wide distribution of a good extermination agent to get rid of these pests. It is my opinion the taxpayers would welcome the funding of a program to eradicate fire ants.

Would you guide us in the manner in which this matter should be brought before those who could bring about the re-instatement of free distribution of fire ant poisons?

Any suggestions will be welcomed.
Joe Pilet
Coordinator, Friends of the Hancock County Library System

Tiger Pride Band directors garner plaudits for festival ratings

November 9, 1983
The Sea Coast Echo

To the Editor:

Tiger Pride Band, Bill Ellis and Al Sheppard deserve congratulations on their superior and excellent ratings received at the Old South Open Marching Festival in Milton, Fla. on Saturday.

We know that when a band director leaves, there is a lot of confusion and mixed feelings. But these new directors have proven that people can rise above all the obstacles and still come out on top.

I'm sure I can speak for all the Band Aides when I say, "We're proud of you, congratulations again for a job well done."

The People's Business

LOOKING AHEAD TO 1984

The issues of '84 are coming sharply into focus now, with the Mississippi Legislature scheduled to convene in regular sessions in now just two months.

Money and money management seem always to be with us in these years. How much will we have and what we will do with what we have? And, where can we cut corners?

The issue of education is with us still. Will we fund the full implementation of the Education Reform Act? Will the mandates of the act be revised, or withdrawn?

And, will there be legislation aimed at protecting or even improving our business climate? How do we deal with the question recently raised as a result of a state Supreme Court decision relative to the state's tax exemption for manufacturers under the industrial revenue bonds program?

We are not waiting for 1984 to begin examining these issues. We will begin this month, in fact, with the first of a series of Legislative Forums scheduled by the Mississippi Economic Council. The Council, the state's largest association of business and professional members, has scheduled a series of six discussions between business and government leaders the last week of November and the first week of December. The sessions will be held in six different locations as a means of encouraging maximum citizen and government participation.

The schedule: Tuesday, Nov. 29, Jackson; Wednesday, Nov. 30, Tupelo; Thursday, Dec. 1, Greenwood; Tuesday, Dec. 6, Natchez; Wednesday, Dec. 7, Hattiesburg; Thursday, Dec. 8, Biloxi.

These discussions could help set the course for Mississippi for 1984 and for the years to come.

These discussions could help set the course for Mississippi for 1984 and for the years to come.

SHOP AROUND FOR MORTGAGES
QUESTION: As interest rates have dropped in recent months, I have noticed little difference between fixed-rate loans and adjustable rate mortgages. Currently, which of the two is the best? T. C.,
Meridian

ANSWER: Dear T.C.:
You are correct in your observation concerning the little if any difference in interest rates for fixed-rate and adjustable-rate mortgages.
The spread between the two has decreased. However, home buyers should continue to comparison shop to find mortgages that best suit them.
Even today prospective buyers may find lower interest rates on adjustable-rate mortgages than on fixed-rate loans. Fixed-rate loans generally cost more because lenders increasingly must find these long-term loans with short-term, variable-rate savings plans.

When considering an adjustable-rate mortgage a potential borrower should check what type loan it is and how often its rate can change.
In addition, ask about loan origination costs, such as points and application fees.
Check whether private mortgage insurance is going to be required. This protects the lender if a homeowner defaults. Finally, ask whether you will be charged a prepayment penalty for paying off the loan early, such as when you sell your home.

In summary, neither one is the "best" for everyone. Shop around and find which of the two best fits your needs.

SENIORS: A GROWING FACTOR IN HOUSING

QUESTION: As a senior citizen, I am amazed at the small amount of housing being built specifically for older people. Very little is available. Do you think this will change? A.
M., Vicksburg

ANSWER: Dear A.M.:
As the nation's population turns grayer, the housing industry is taking a fresh and much needed look at retirees and senior citizens. This is due in part to the fact that the proportion of elderly people is multiplying to record levels, according to the new "Housing Futures" research project.

The research shows that since 1950, the number of persons 65 or older has nearly doubled, to about 25 million.
Further, for the first time in U.S. history, the Census Bureau projects that there is a larger percentage of the population 65 or older, at 11.7 percent, than the percentage of teenagers at 11.3 percent.

The "Housing Futures" study found, high rates of ownership among the elderly, whose per capita household income is only $500 lower than that of all other households.

This rapid increase in the elderly population is creating new demands for smaller homes, that match new lifestyles as well as expanding the resale market of larger homes sought by younger families. No doubt, builders will realize the housing needs of this market and the styles and features of new housing will reflect these needs.

Supervisor's Race

After learning Tuesday that he had won a third term as District 1 member of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, Bert Courge said he was "really happy with the returns, and really appreciate the people who have continuously stood behind me in this long campaign."

"I am looking forward to working with the other supervisors and municipalities in order to keep Hancock County progressing," he added.

Courge won re-election by defeating Independent candidate Tommy Moran by some 450 votes out of about 1,175 cast.

Courge was very nearly defeated by Robert B. Peterson Jr. in a runoff following the Democratic primary last August.

After Peterson defeated him by 18 votes, Courge challenged the outcome, citing election irregularities.

He then defeated Peterson in another runoff.

In the Circuit Clerk race, J.D. (Big John) Rutherford of Bay St. Louis defeated current deputy Pamela Thomas Metzler and three other opponents.

Rutherford, former chancery clerk, garnered 2,886 votes to Metzler's 2,373.

Waveland Adlman Barbara Rapold received 1,548 votes for circuit clerk. Charles A. Russ III received 761 and James D. Mauffray, 644.

Rutherford commented that "This was a nice race by all candidates, and I want to thank all my supporters."

"I am looking forward to doing the best job ever in the circuit clerk's office."

In the sheriff's race, incumbent Ronald Peterson easily won re-election over opponents Fairley Necaise and McCormick Wheeler.

Unofficial results show Peterson with 6,465 votes, Necaise with 1,507 and Wheeler with 169.

Peterson said he appreciates the work of his many supporters in both the Democratic primary and the general election.

"It is impossible to pinpoint any particular person—I want to say thanks to everyone."

Bruce Necaise and Horatio Frierson will serve as Post 1 and Post 2 Justice Court judges for the new districts created by the reduction of the county's Justice Courts from five to two.

Necaise, former District 4 Justice Court judge, beat both opponents Thomas P. Clarke and Clifton Saucier by more than two to one.

"A special thanks to all of my supporters and friends," Necaise said.

"It has been a pleasure serving as Justice Court judge for the past four years, and I am looking forward to serving as a judge in the new system for Hancock County."

Frierson beat Norman V. Rester by capturing 73 percent of the total vote.

In other local races, District 3 Constable Phillip W. Malley won re-election over opponent Paul P. Ladner, and Alton (Clay) Sick Jr. defeated Leroy Bourgeois for the District 5 constable seat.

In statewide elections, Hancock County voters joined their peers throughout the state in choosing Democrat Bill Allain governor over Republican Leon Bramlett.

According to unofficial returns, Allain received 5,090 votes to Bramlett's 2,339.

Black Independent candidate Charles Evers received 273 votes, and gubernatorial candidates Billy Taylor and Helen Williams received 158 and 214 votes respectively.

Hancock County gave 4,968 votes to incumbent Democrat Brad Dye in his bid for re-election as lieutenant governor and 2,955 to Independent Gil Carmichael.

In the attorney general's race in Hancock County, Democrat Ed Pittman received 6,029 votes to 1,736 for Republican Roger Googe.

Voters elected Democrat Dick Molpus secretary of state over Republican Jerry Gilbreath. Unofficial returns gave Molpus 5,523 votes in Hancock County, compared to 2,144 for Gilbreath.

Both Registrar of Voters Jerry Heitzmann and Hancock County Election Commission Chairman Charles Gottschalk said Wednesday that the election process ran "quite smoothly."

"We had fewer problems with this election than any in recent years," Gottschalk said.

Asked if any problems had arisen after removing convicted felons' names from voter registration lists, Gottschalk said a few had insisted on voting.

Poll workers were instructed not to "point any fingers" at anyone, but to advise felons that they were no longer registered to vote and could find out why at the election commission office.

Those who did insist, Gottschalk said, were allowed to vote by affidavit.

He had "a number" of such votes, he said, but "those votes will not be counted."

Culverts may be property owner responsibility

Supers OK floodplain construction heights

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
Flood insurance should cost less for some Hancock County home owners as the result of a new flood insurance rate map and action taken by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, the Waveland Board of Aldermen and the Bay St. Louis City Council, according to Jim Pfeiffer, deputy clerk for the Board of Supervisors.

Following a public hearing Monday, Nov. 7, the Board adopted Floodplain Management Regulations for unincorporated areas in Hancock County.

The Waveland Board of Aldermen passed a similar ordinance Oct. 19, and the Bay City Council is scheduled to consider its floodplain management ordinance Thursday, according to City Clerk Eddie Favre.

The adoption of floodplain management measures was mandated by the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

Failure to adopt the measures would mean loss of eligibility for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program.

The rate map, developed by Florida firm of Gee and Jensen after a two-year study, establishes elevation requirements based on such factors as distance from bodies of water, topography and proximity to railroad tracks, John Scaffidi, attorney for the Planning Commission, told the supervisors Monday.

Instead of one zone for the entire area with a required elevation of 13.1 feet above sea level, the new rate map has a number of zones, with required elevations varying from 8.0 feet to 17.0 feet.

Scaffidi said the higher "velocity" zones are on the beach and go back 100-150 feet. After that, he said, the required elevations levels drop rather quickly.

The Planning Commission will act as the arm of the board in enforcing the floodplain regulations in the county.

Walter Gex III, attorney for the board, said he is sure there's a grandfather clause for existing structures.

James Rester, from Farm Bureau Insurance, agreed that insurance rates will change in accordance with lower elevation requirements, but noted that property owners will have to apply for the reduced rates if their elevations have been lowered.

The reduced elevation requirements will especially benefit property owners who have been paying premium rates for property below the 13.1 level, Pfeiffer says.

The rate maps are available for perusal in Pfeiffer's office at Hancock County Courthouse, in the Permit Office at Waveland City Hall, and in the Council Room in Bay St. Louis City Hall.

Following another public hearing, the board adopted amendments to Subdivision Regulations requiring developers to furnish and install driveway culverts for each lot in all new subdivisions.

Several supervisors noted that community growth and the need for culverts, which cost about $250 each, is causing serious financial problems. Supervisor Bert Courge said he is averaging five trailers a week in his area, and it may become a matter of sacrificing culverts or new roadwork.

"We may have to continue installing, but make property owners pay for them," he said.

Supervisor A.A. (Dolph) Keller said that new culverts in his beat are running 15-20 per month.

Although the amendment pertains only to developers, Gex advised realtors at the public hearing to have their clients contact the appropriate supervisors about the availability of funds for culverts for individual houses or trailers.

It takes at least three years to get culvert costs back in taxes, he said.

Other Subdivision Regulation amendments adopted Monday by the board require developers for subdivisions containing lots at least three acres large to file preliminary plans as well as final plans with the Planning Commission.

Scaffidi said these amendments simply bring the regulations into conformity with general practice.

The board heard two presentations on computer service for the Circuit Clerk's office.

Circuit Clerk Jerry Heitzmann noted that computerization would reduce the manpower needs for the re-registration of voters which is planned next year.

He said a computer could also be used for jury selection, and could do in one-half day what it takes Election Commission members about three days to do manually.

Rick Maddox, representing South Mississippi Planning and Development

System, said the Circuit Clerk could rent a terminal from his company in Gulfport for a one-time cost of $12,700 plus continuing "on line" costs of $190-$200 per month.

Phil Creel, Data Processing Consultants of Hattiesburg, Inc., proposed that the Circuit Clerk use the machine in the Chancery Clerk's office, adding a terminal, printer and appropriate software and upgrading the storage capacity.

Upgrading the equipment, he said, would cost $8,755, including a one-time installation charge and doubling the storage capacity of the present equipment.

Software for voter registration and jury selection would cost $800; for another $500, the court dockets could be computerized.

Creel said it would cost about $500 to train personnel, and a maintenance contract would cost roughly $110 per month.

Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner advised that Gulf Regional Planning is also looking into computer use and might want to cooperate in a joint project, and suggested no action be taken at this time.

Gex noted that application for approval for voter re-registration has been made to the Justice Department, and that although he does not expect any problems, no affirmative action can be taken until approval is given.

He also noted that the need for continuous upgrading and purging of the voter registration list will not be alleviated by computerization.

The sheriff's department reported that it took in a total of $27,530 in October: $21,000 in fines, $2,968 from Justice Court, $748 in process fees, $700 in bonding fees, and $2,115 for housing illegal aliens during the last six months.

The supervisors also:
—Received a flag which was flown on the first Columbia mission into space, presented to the board and the people of Hancock County by Mac Herring, public affairs officer for NASA National Space Technology Laboratories;

Approved preliminary plans for Bienville Estates Subdivision Phase II, consisting of 11 lots all at least three acres;

Approved the hiring of Rudolph Rabards by Hancock County Park Commission on a part-time basis until summer, then full time, at minimum wages;

Accepted the low bid of Gerald Shaw of Perkinson for 600 cubic yards of clay gravel for McCloud Park at $4 per yard;

Accepted the low bid of Loftis Equipment of Gulfport for $20,935 for a rotamower-ditcher combination for Beat 2;

Agreed to re-advertise for 1984 pickup trucks for Beats 2 and 4 and for monitors for Beats 2, 3 and 4 since no bids were received for the first advertisement; and

Following a presentation by Thomas Clay of the State Retirement System, voted that Hancock County employees may participate in a Deferred Compensation Plan implemented by the 1974 State Legislature.

Hancock County School District Superintendent Terrell Randolph advised the board of a discrepancy between plat and legal description of land which Mississippi Power Company is leasing from the district, resulting in an error in calculating lease rental of about $45,000.

The board rescinded its prior resolution approving the lease for $412,000 and adopted a new resolution with a corrected figure of $458,608.

Randolph also discussed a $250,000 loan and two-mill levy approved in Oct. 1981 for a match with state school construction funds.

Shortly thereafter, the state ran out of money to match the $250,000.

The levy has resulted in the collection of approximately $177,000 in advalorem taxes during the past two years, he said.

Two payments totalling $100,000 plus interest have been made on the loan, Randolph said, leaving a balance in the escrow account of about $360,000—not enough to pay off the loan and retain the $250,000 voted for school construction.

The fund balance has earned interest exceeding that paid on the loan, he noted, adding that if school consolidation is effected by the state, construction priorities in the area will change.

Also Monday, engineer Larry Seal reported he hopes to complete plans for overlay on Lower Bay Road by Jan. 1.

He also said that work on Fire Tower Road is 80 percent complete and is proceeding on schedule.

CHECKING VOTE TALLIES—John V. Ladner, left, District Three election commissioner; Charles Gottschalk, District Five election commissioner, and secretary; and Alonzo Daniels, are among several workers who helped Hancock County election commissioners tally votes Tuesday night. The election commissioners are scheduled to meet at 4 p.m. this afternoon to certify the General Election results. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

Cause undetermined in Bay house blaze

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A fire of undetermined cause damaged the front portion of an unoccupied house at the corner of Watts and Keller Streets in Bay St. Louis.

Chief Andrew Lizana of the Bay Fire Department said Tuesday that the blaze was reported at 1:15 a.m. that day by neighbors.

When firefighters arrived at the scene they found flames leaping from the front of the house at 402 Keller St.

owned by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dorsey, Lizana reported.

He said the fire was extinguished in about eight minutes after burning a front porch, portion of a living room and the roof over both.

The chief reported the blaze originated in an upholstered chair on the porch, but the cause of the fire is undetermined.

Lizana added the firefighters returned to the Bay Fire Station at 1:55 p.m.

Burglar suspects fire at guard

Three men who attempted to break into a heavy equipment compound in the buffer zone of the National Space Technology Laboratories on Sunday and exchanged gunfire with a security guard remained at large Wednesday.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said Johnny Hickman Sand and Gravel had stationed the guard at the compound because its equipment had been vandalized.

According to the guard, James E. Rider of Picayune, three men arrived in a vehicle described as an old model Chevrolet pickup truck at about 7 p.m. and tried to shoot the lock off the gate.

When the guard fired a warning shot and shouted at the men, they fired at him.

The guard fired back with his 12-gauge shotgun, apparently wounding one of the men.

The other two helped the man into the truck and fled, said Peterson.

The suspects are believed to be young, white males, said the sheriff.

Hancock FmHA loans total $1.1 million

The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) made 3,499 home mortgage loans to Mississippi families in fiscal year 1983 that ended Sept. 30, FmHA State Director Don Barrett reported.

FmHA is a credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It provides loan assistance to farmers and other rural residents who need credit but who cannot get it from private banks or other lending institutions.

The loans are to be repaid in full, plus interest, to the U.S. Government. FmHA has 82 field offices in Mississippi.

Preliminary figures show that nationally the agency provided more than 60,000 loans to families across the country who were without safe, decent and sanitary housing. Another 20,000 families were afforded an opportunity at better housing through 1,000 loans that financed rental housing construction.

The total amount of FmHA housing loans for the fiscal year was $2.6 billion.

In Mississippi, FmHA provided 3,499 single family home loans totaling $111,145,640, Don Barrett said. 1,905 rental housing units were financed for $50,018,270. Total housing loans for the year amounted to $161,163,910.

In excess of $104,000,000 has been loaned in Mississippi in the last 90 days, according to Barrett. This large volume is due to funds becoming available from other states and an aggressive loan-making push by the Mississippi field offices.

Mrs. Patricia A. Rogers, acting FmHA county supervisor said the FmHA has financed 30 housing loans for an amount of $1,702,100 in Hancock County for the Fiscal Year ending Sept. 30, 1983.

Couple offering reward for Cat

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The bereaved owners of a 16-year-old silver-grey tabby are offering a $25 reward for the return of their longtime beloved pet which they think was stolen.

What makes them feel their cat, named Cat, was stolen is because about the same time that their animal was missing, a neighbor's feline disappeared and was later found several miles away at a local shopping center.

The owners are Mr. and Mrs. Louis (and Geraldine) Boulet who live at the corner of Henderson and Daniel Streets in Waveland.

Geraldine Boulet sadly reports that her husband is hospitalized after suffering an apparent stroke while searching the neighborhood for the animal.

She explains the neighbors feline, which is similar-looking to Cat, was reported and found roaming at the Bay St. Louis Mall.

Both cats were discovered missing on Nov. 1 at about 1 p.m., she says.

Boulet says she placed an advertisement in The Sea Coast Echo classified section which coupled with a citizen's report resulted in the recovery of the neighbor's cat.

The middle-aged couple's children are now adults and Cat is their longtime beloved companion.

Boulet says their pet answers to the name of Cat, is a female, due to old age is skinny, is silver-grey striped, has a notch in one ear and is wearing a collar with a green rabies inoculation tag.

The owners are concerned because they fear the frail animal could die from exposure.

To report information regarding the whereabouts of Cat please telephone the Boulet's home: 467-2385 or Geraldine Boulet at work at 1-504-566-5176.

Hancock bowl games slated tonight, Sat.

Bay Tigers in both events

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Two annual Hancock County football bowl games pitting outstanding high and junior high school teams are slated this week.

Tonight the 10th Annual Junior High Mullet Bowl at Tiger Stadium in Bay St. Louis will pit the Hancock North Central Junior High School Hawks against the Bay Junior High School Tigers.

Saturday night the Wendall Ladner Bowl at Hawk Stadium will host the Bay Senior High School Tigers and Raleigh High School Lions.

MULLET BOWL
Mullet Bowl activities will begin at 7 p.m.

The event is sponsored by the Tiger Booster Club.

HNC Junior High is 8-1 this season and the Junior Tigers are 5-3.

Queen of the Mullet Bowl Court will be selected from several B.J.H.S. eighth and ninth grade girls chosen by the school's football team members.

Those candidates include Rhonda Bilbo, Shondel Dawson, Wendy deBen, Kim Delcuze, Melissa Harvill, Mechelle Carlene House, Michelle Parker, Rina Roberson, Dieneen Bell, Lisa Cook, Rita Davis, Paula Theusa Farve, Tina Fayard, Stephanie Preston, Calister Rosemond, Teaka Noel Ruff, Mirissa Tyons and Lisa Wilson.

The queen is selected based on which candidate raises the most money through the sale of game tickets and fund raising events.

LADNER BOWL
The Wendall Ladner Bowl sponsored by the Hancock Football Booster Club will begin at 7 p.m.

The Bay High Tigers are 9-1 this season and Raleigh Lions are 8-2.

Queen of that annual event will be crowned during halftime activities.

The Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District Board of Trustees at a special meeting Monday night unanimously agreed to allow the Bay team to participate in the event.

J.D. McCullough, superintendent of education, told the board that the winning team would receive $1,000 and the losers would be given $500. McCullough said he would agree to allow the team to participate if the board approved it.

He reported Tiger team members were recently asked and voted to participate in the bowl game.

In addition, both teams will receive 20 percent of the proceeds generated from ticket sales at the respective schools, he added.

Lang, Betanzos to battle for Tigers against MSU Bulldogs Saturday

Always-tough Tiger Stadium and the LSU Tigers await Mississippi State's battling Bulldogs Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in a Southeastern Conference game at Baton Rouge.

The annual tussle between the largest universities in terms of enrollment in Mississippi and Louisiana has reached classic proportions in past seasons and should be no different in the 1983 renewal.

Last year Mississippi State edged the Tigers 27-24 before a regional television audience (ABC) at Scott Field and took the Tigers out of consideration for the SEC title and an automatic berth in the Sugar Bowl.

In 1981 MSU assured itself of a bid in the Hall of Fame Bowl, where the Bulldogs later beat Kansas 10-0, by downing the Tigers in Baton Rouge.

And in 1980 a wild, 55-31 Mississippi State victory at Jackson, Miss., sent the Bulldogs off to a berth in the Sun Bowl opposite Nebraska.

Tiger-Bulldog clashes have always been totally unpredictable in terms of gauging points scored, margin of victory, or pregame favorites.

The last LSU victory—a 21-3 win at Baton Rouge in 1979—marked an emotional send-off to Coach Charley McClendon in his final home game at LSU's mentor.

A 1978 encounter, expected to be a high-scoring free-for-all, ended 16-14 MSU's way as the Bulldogs resorted to a series of "Statue of Liberty" runs by halfback James Jones, many out of the shotgun formation.

This week's fracas pits LSU running backs Dalton Hilliard and Garry James, who have combined for 926 net yards between them on 222 carries and eight touchdowns, against a Mississippi State defense, which hopes to guard against the big play.

Also seeing action for the Tigers will be Gene Lang, graduate of Pass Christian High; and Juan Betanzos, St.

Stanislaus grad.

MSU quarterback John Bond pushed over the fabled 2,000 yards rushing/4,000 yards passing career mark in the first half of the last week's loss to Memphis State but was sacked twice in the final half and dropped back to 1,993 net yards.

On his seventh net yard rushing Bond will again join Wichita State's Prince McJunkins (1979-82) as the only two Division I quarterbacks ever to attain the 2,000/4,000 milestone. McJunkins, now playing for the Ottawa Roughriders of the CFL, had 2,047 yards rushing and an additional 4,544 yards passing. Bond owns 4,391 passing yards on 295 of 641 aerial tries.

Both teams are in hopes of salvaging a Southeastern Conference triumph after Mississippi State completed a four-game forced march through all the teams competing for the SEC title with three opponents (Georgia, Auburn, and Alabama) at road sites.

Coach Emory Bellard's crew has a pair of league contests remaining as it travels to LSU and then hosts Mississippi on Nov. 19 in Jackson to close the 1983 campaign while LSU is playing its final home game of the year. The Tigers invade the Louisiana Superdome to meet Tulane on Nov. 19.

Richardson wins Echo football contest again

Mike Richardson of Waveland is first place in The Sea Coast Echo Football Contest for the weekend of Oct. 28. Richardson, winner of a $15 cash prize, picked 10 winners out of 12 selections in the contest.

Second place and a $10 cash prize went to P. L. Landry of Bay St. Louis. Landry selected nine winners from the 12 games listed.

Bama eyeing revenge in USM fray

The University of Southern Mississippi Golden Eagles, 7-2 after last week's 27-3 win over Louisville, goes up against Alabama this week with a shot at gaining some much-wanted and deserved national recognition.

Alabama's Crimson Tide will have revenge on its mind as the game unfolds in Birmingham's Legion Field at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Eagles whipped the Tide 38-29 in Tuscaloosa last year, snapping Alabama's 57-game winning streak at home.

Still, the Tide holds a 17-3-2 in a series that began in 1947. The last time the two teams met in Birmingham the game ended in a 13-13 tie, which was the exact score of their only previous tie ('66).

Is there a chance for the Eagles to get national recognition by stemming the Tide again? Certainly. A perennial contender for national honors and bowl bids, Bama was ranked 19th in the nation before last week's 33-36 win over Louisiana State and was expected to retain at least as high a rating this week.

Whether it's an omen or not remains to be seen, but USM's two wins over Alabama before last year's came in back-to-back years, 1953 and '54. It was 25-19 in '53 and 7-2 in '54.

Prior to and after the '53-'54 wins for the Mississippians, the Tide scored some run-away wins, such as 53-0 in 1950, 63-14 in '69 and 52-0 in 1974.

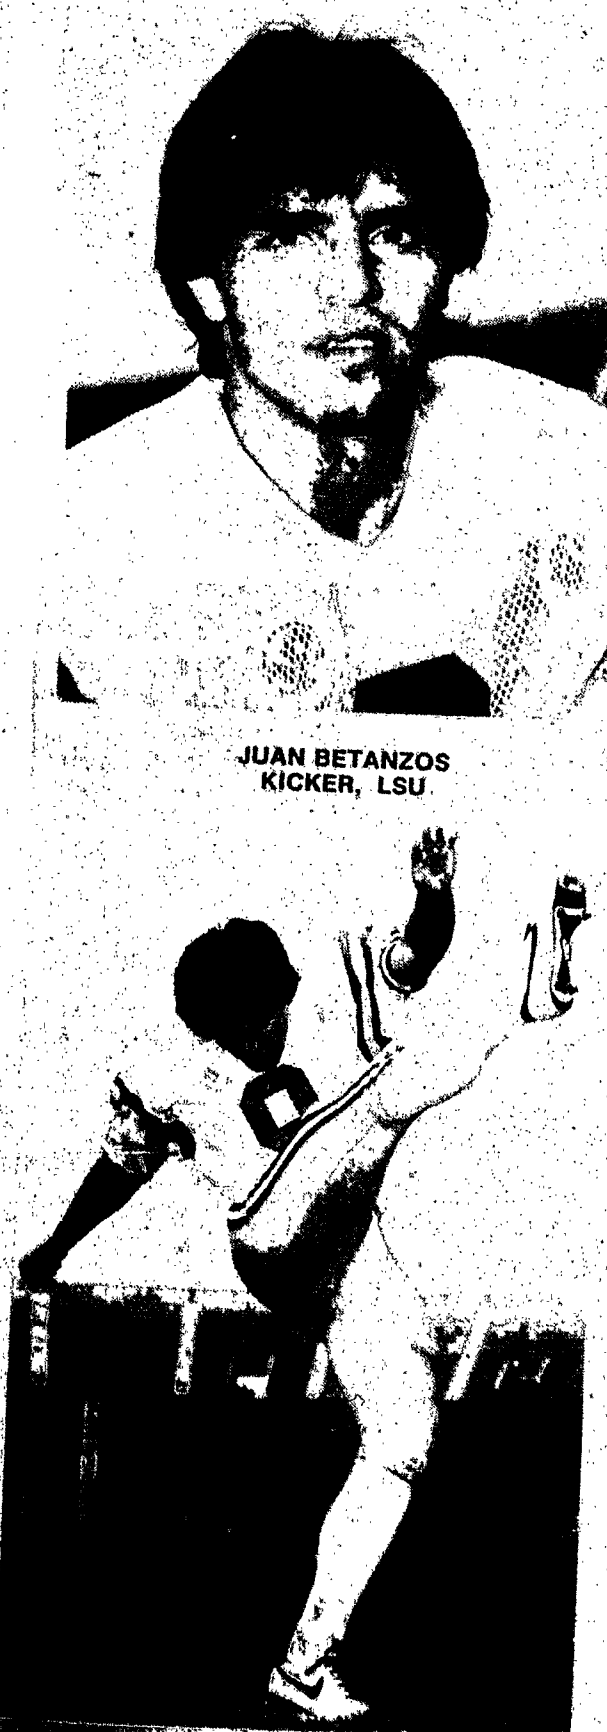

This year's Bama club, with one of the late and great Bear Bryant's star pupils, Ray Perkins, at the helm, is 6-2 on the year and averaging just under 35 points per game.

The game will be a supreme test for the Golden Eagle defense, known as the Nasty Bunch, which ranks high nationally in defense against scoring. The Birds have given up an average of exactly 10 points per game through nine contests and haven't had a touchdown scored them in the last two weeks.

Following the trek to Birmingham, the Eagles will have only one game remaining, a home battle with highly-regarded East Carolina on Nov. 19, 7 p.m.

Soccer winners listed

The fourth week of soccer in the Fall season continued to provide excitement in several games which could have gone either way.

In the Under 8 Division Hancock Bank earned its first win with a 4-0 decision over Specialty Metal.

Then Gateway Body Shop narrowly edged past Nell Frisbie Realtors 1-0. Coca Cola drew a bye.

In the Under 10 Division McDonald Realty pulled off a minor upset by holding McDonald's Restaurant to a 0-0 tie.

Loiacano's Health Spa received a scare from Hancock General Hospital before eking out a 1-0 victory.

Bernard Construction easily downed Dillmann Roofing 7-0. However in a game played on Sunday Dillmann Roofing played a girls' team from Slidell and proved it can hold its own against other girls by earning a 0-0 tie sparked by strong defense and aggressive play.

Thomas Murphree, D.D.S. also had an easy time in a 6-0 romp over Sirloin Stockade.

In its second game of the day, Loiacano's Health Spa defeated a select Covington team 2-0 with hard play and a couple of good breaks.

In the Under 12 Division Dental Health Service kept its unbeaten record intact with a 3-1 decision over previously unbeaten Parker's Hardware.

In the second game after a scoreless first half Pat's Chevron got two quick goals seven minutes into the second half to spark a 4-0 victory over Edmond Fahey Funeral Home.

In an exhibition game Hancock Bank (Select) had a relatively easy time with Sports World, winning 7-0. But the girls showed that they can play aggressive soccer which will help them when they play other girls' teams.

Gulf Coast Waste and Bay-Waveland Tire continued their rivalry, with Gulf Coast Waste again coming out on top by a one goal margin, 2-1.

On Sunday Sea Coast Echo hosted a Slidell team and held onto a 0-0 tie into the second half, only to lose 2-1. The girls missed several scoring opportunities, with a penalty shot by Shannon Maggio averting a shutout.

Last Wednesday BAYS held a soccer clinic for interested parents, coaches and referees. The clinic was conducted by Clive Broadbent, an Englishman by birth and a former college coach.

He emphasized that coaches should sit down with their players to determine what their team, as well as personal, expectations are to arrive at a consensus, or common goal, which serves as a bond to tie the team together during the season.

Coaches at the junior level should emphasize player development of skills and soccer sense rather than winning because eventually those teams become the winning teams of the future.

As the level of play increases, the speed of the game decreases as the emphasis changes to passing, especially high percentage right angle passing.

There are many drills which can develop these skills and make such passing instinctive.

Clive also covered the three basic scoring plays in soccer, as well as the need to compress the field of play by having fullbacks follow the play on offense and forwards coming back on defense.

If a coach sees a problem, the coach can make up his own drills to correct it, and if it doesn't work that's all right too, for coaches are human and the players will not respect a coach any less who admits his mistakes.

All in all it was an informative evening, and any coach who can take advantage of Clive's experience to help his or her team will find it of great benefit.

The next Board of Directors meeting will be Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Main Street United Methodist Church.

Six USM events to air on Metro basketball tv net

Southern Mississippi's Golden Eagle basketball team is scheduled to appear on television six times this season on the Metro Conference's television network.

The USM games that will be televised will include home contests with Virginia Tech Feb. 6 and Tulane Mar. 3 and road games with Tulane Jan. 11, Memphis State Jan. 14, Virginia Tech Jan. 21 and Louisville Feb. 8.

The Metro Conference network was seen last season in all major markets in the South and Southeast and in selected markets around the country and the league's tournament championship game. Last season was televised by CBS-Sports. This season a projected 80 percent of all conference games will be tele-

The Eagles appeared three times last season on the Metro's television package. Road games against Virginia Tech were televised during the 1982-83 season.

FISHIN' TIPS

from...Tom Mann

MORE AND MORE fishermen today are using downriggers in freshwater and catching more fish. But, not every fisherman can afford the windlass types which mount on the gunnel of a boat. Well, how about what I call "a poor man's downrigger?"

It's made by a friend of mine, Dan Capen, and is called a Balt Walker. It's a keel-shaped lead on a "V" shaped wire and you can either cast it out or troll it. The lead walks the bottom while your lure swims above and behind it, rarely snagging on cover.

Dan uses it in conjunction with a Razorback wiggling lure and catches many sporting species such as bass, walleyes, northern pike, white bass, even an occasional channel catfish.

The whole idea is to get your lure right down on bottom and still effective is the oldtimey way of adding a lead weight, like a ball sinker, about two feet above your lure. You can lob it out from shore or troll it behind a boat. Big fish are deep and a downrigger rig will get down and knock on their front doors.

BREX TOM'S CLOSING TIP: A last-ditch, desperation trick to catch bottom-dwelling fish is to hook a frog through both lips, weight it to sink, and wind-drift it through deep, mid-lake holes... a dirty trick to play on a frog, but deadly!

BACK TROUBLES

Minor back problems and pains are taken lightly by many people. Yet the spine serves to protect the nervous system and gives shape and structural support to the body. If the supporting structures of a spine were to weaken, you can realize the long-term effect would be damaging if left neglected. The same principle applies even more so to people's neck and back problems. Children who sustain falls, accidents or injuries playing football or basketball with resulting symptoms of pain or stiffness should always have a chiropractic check-up. Attending to accordingly minor problems at this stage and age will certainly help to avoid major problems in the future. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Eagle cagers to open in Memphis

Southern Mississippi basketball coach M.K. Turk says he is pleased with the Golden Eagles' first week of pre-season practice as his squad began preparations for their season opener Nov. 25-26 in the Mid-South Classic in Memphis, Tenn.

The Eagles are scheduled to face North Texas State and Tennessee State in the tournament.

"Our first week went exceptionally well," said Turk, who is beginning his eighth season with the Golden Eagles. "The veterans are offering spirited leadership and the freshmen seem to be fitting in with the enthusiasm."

Turk had indicated that early practices would concentrate on basic fundamentals in addition to work on offense and defense, strictly on and against man-to-man alignments.

The Eagles were to continue to concentrate on these areas, and begin work on the fast break and presses, during this week's workouts.

Turk is seeking replacements for three departed starters from last year's squad that finished 14-14 and placed sixth in its first season in the Metro Conference.

Those three departed starters are 6-8 center Carl Mitchell, 6-6 small forward Kenny Dailey and 6-3 second guard Larry Boyd.

The leading candidates to replace Mitchell at center are 6-9 freshman Eddie Pope of Hattiesburg and 6-9 junior Paul Crowley (who was red-shirted in '82-83).

Battling to replace Dailey at small forward are 6-6 senior Marc Tisza, 6-6 senior Ken Suttles, 6-6 junior red-shirt Robert McDaniel and 6-7 freshman Steven Jett.

The battle to replace Boyd should be between a pair of sophomores, Michael Jett, 6-5, and Michael Crosby, 6-2.

Returning starters Curtis Green, a 6-1 senior guard, and 6-6 junior forward James Williams appear to have solid holds on their jobs but several other players should also see action.

Adam Simmons, a 6-7½ freshman, will be at power forward, as will 6-6 sophomore Marty Stubblefield, and freshman Ken Siler will work behind Green at point guard.

The Eagles will enter their second year in the Metro Conference with one of their toughest schedules ever and the most television appearances in the school's history. They will face each metro foe twice and will also face such heavyweights as Southwestern Louisiana, South Alabama, Mississippi State and Northeast Louisiana, to mention a few.

Eagle Joye Nell Lee returns

Southern Mississippi's women's basketball team is pointing toward a Nov. 29 home opener against Nicholls State in Reed Green Coliseum. Head coach Kay James says she is pleased with the progress of the Lady Golden Eagles.

"I have been extremely pleased with the improvement of several players. Amy Heiden, a freshman, has shown a lot of ability and will definitely give us added depth at point guard. Brenda Williams is another newcomer who has improved from day one and she will add strength at center."

James has to replace only one starter off last year's team that posted a 17-10 record and won three of its four Metro Conference games. Candidates to take over for departed four-year letter winner Rose Smith at forward are veterans Ana Jones, a 6-0 junior, and Faye Hodges, a 5-10 sophomore, and Robbie Grady, a 5-11 walk-on.

Returning starters appearing to have a hold on their jobs are 5-9 junior forward Portland McCaskill, 5-7 senior guard Joye Nell Lee and 5-5 junior point guard Diane Backstrom.

Part-time starters Juliette Weaver, a 6-0 junior, and Wilhelmina Smith, a 5-11 junior, are battling for the starting assignment at center.

Others likely to see action include 5-8 freshman guard Kelly Sixkiller and 6-2 sophomore sophomore center Pam Wilson.

The Lady Eagles will play a 27-game schedule that includes 15 home contests. There are 10 conference games on the slate.

NO PEEKING—Long Beach Bearcat quarterback Chris Boszor (1) appears to be playing hide-and-seek as he tries to break from the grasp of St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaw fullback Chuck Yarborough (45) in high school football action here earlier in the season. Post season prep grid activities continue in Hancock County this week with the Mullet Bowl at 7 p.m.

tonight at Bay High Stadium pitting Bay High and Hancock North Central Ninth Graders and the Wendell Ladner Bowl featuring Bay High and Raleigh High varsity squads Saturday at HNC Hawk Stadium in White Cypress. Ladner Bowl kickoff is also at 7 p.m. (Photo by John Falcon)

Foreclosures delayed with FmHA suit styled a class action

U.S. District Court Judge William Keady has issued an order granting class action status to a lawsuit filed against the Farmers Home Administration on behalf of five Mississippi farm families.

Government attorneys formally consented not to foreclose on any farmers in Mississippi until after Jan. 10 when the court will hear the farmers' motion for a preliminary injunction.

D. Howard McPhail Jr., whose Calhoun City farm had been scheduled to go on the block on Oct. 11, expressed satisfaction that the sale had been halted.

The lawsuit, filed on Sept. 27 by attorneys for the National Farm Borrowers Association and American Constitutional Rights Association, seeks:

1. to enjoin all FmHA farm foreclosures until such time as FmHA implements 7 USC Section 1981a, the moratorium statute enacted by Congress in 1978;

2. to require FmHA to release its security interest in farm proceeds so that farmers can meet their family living and farm operating expenses; and

3. to require FmHA to implement new appeal procedures that comport with the minimum requirements of due process.

At a federal court hearing held in Aberdeen on Oct. 7, government officials testified that as of June 30, FmHA held 41,674 Farmer Program loans for 19,776 farmers in Mississippi.

The total amount outstanding on these loans was $1,303,676,000.

Of 19,776 farmers in the program, 8,287, or 41.9 percent are delinquent in their payments.

Some 217 of these borrowers have received notices accelerating their FmHA loans thus far in 1983.

Judge Keady granted the plaintiffs' motion that the lawsuit be allowed to proceed as a class action and ruled that the class was defined as "All farmers in Mississippi who presently have FO, OL, or EM loans financed by FmHA under the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act, and whose loan accounts are delinquent and have been accelerated or which may hereafter be accelerated by the FmHA and made subject to foreclosure."

Judge Keady ruled that the class is subject to automatic expansion when and if FmHA accelerates more farm loans. Perry H. Chesnut, executive director of ACRA and NFBA, expressed disappointment in what he described as a "very narrow definition of the class."

While Chesnut was pleased that FmHA agreed not to foreclose on farmers at least until Jan. 10, he stated that "Foreclosure is the smallest part of the problem. FmHA accomplishes most liquidations by simply cutting off all living and operating funds. What farmers need is a court order requiring FmHA to release its security interest in their farm proceeds. This is required by the clear wording of FmHA's own regulations."

Chesnut said that such an order could be obtained at the Jan. 10 hearing if FmHA farm borrowers take certain steps immediately.

"Judge Keady questioned whether there were a sufficiently large number of farmers who had been denied the use of their farm proceeds by FmHA," Chesnut said.

"During the next two months farmers will harvest and sell their crops. FmHA will attempt to apply all or most of the proceeds to the farmers' FmHA loans, leaving nothing upon which the farmers can live or operate."

"Between now and the Jan. 10 hearing," Chesnut said, "every FmHA farmer in Mississippi should send his county supervisor a written request for the release of security."

If FmHA fails to respond in writing or fails to release its security interest, then we can ask the court for an appropriate order at the January hearing."

Chesnut stated that NFBA will assist and represent any FmHA farmer in Mississippi free of charge in obtaining the release of FmHA's security interest in farm proceeds. He said that a form letter titled "Emergency Request For The Release Of Normal Income Security" is available from NFBA, and that organizing efforts were under way to distribute the form throughout Mississippi.

"Judge Keady has handed FmHA farmers a wonderful opportunity," Chesnut said. "It is up-to-you (Mississippi farmers) to assert your rights."

Persons wishing to receive or help distribute forms requesting FmHA to release its security should immediately contact Mike Mask at (601) 767-3820; L. A. Davidson at (601) 887-2266; Bob Norsworthy at (601) 845-6504; J. C. Bass at (601) 684-7980; A. O. Biggs at (601) 798-7491; or NFBA at (503) 884-0207.

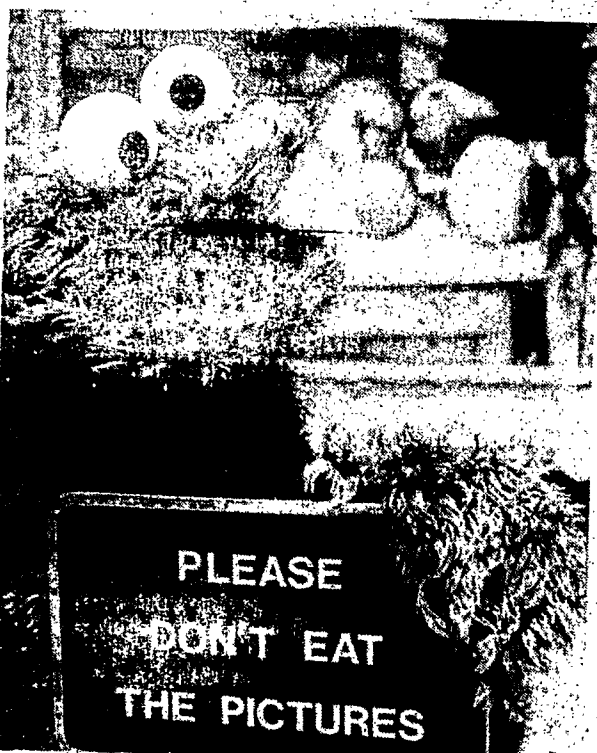

IT'S A FACT

There are only two investor-owned electric utilities in the state—Mississippi Power Company, which is headquartered in Gulfport, and Mississippi Power & Light Company (MP&L), which is located in Jackson. The names are similar sounding, but compared with MP&L, Mississippi Power has a different service area, different customers, different generating plants, different rates, and different investors. In fact, about the only thing we have in common is the product we both sell.

In Southeast Mississippi the name's Mississippi Power. And that's all there is to it.

Q: Several years ago I opened a small gift shop in my home town. Business was good for a while but now I am in financial trouble. I do not want to declare personal bankruptcy.

A: If I can keep from it. Can I declare bankruptcy on the business only?

A: If your business is a sole proprietorship, you are personally liable for all debts of the business, and therefore, you cannot avoid personal bankruptcy. If, however, your business is incorporated, you may declare bankruptcy on the business without declaring to declare personal bankruptcy.

SEALESS SEAHORSES
Farmlands over Mississippi contain a lot of fascinating to strange things—and also some of the oldest when you take into account the many strata of earth that contain fossil remains of life forms nearly as old as the earth itself.

What brought this subject up was a report from a northeast Mississippi farmer that he had seahorses on his farm. Now that was a new one. Teams of mules, quarter horses, shetland ponies and the like, yes—but seahorses, no! Not nearly 400 miles from the Mississippi Sound.

But Tippah county farmer James Mitchell wasn't just horsing around when he spoke of finding a few seahorses on his place many years ago when a 80 foot well was dug.

I started to ask him if the water turned up salty too, but didn't because James Mitchell hadn't cracked a smile yet. He was dead serious, although a lot of times he isn't.

So last week, Mitchell escorted this writer through the autumn briskness and a colorful woodland on his place a few miles east of Ripley to show me what he was talking about. He carried a shovel and I dared not ask him what it had to do with his horses, sea or otherwise.

We checked out a few tree clad bluffs that dropped away north to the bottomlands next to Owl Creek. In ravines where recent rains have bared fresh soil along the bluffline we gazed through a beautiful setting of colorful leaves and green ferns to see traces of shells protruding from the soil.

The shovel went into play, working fossils out of the remnant of an ancient sea bottom now high and mostly dry several hundreds of feet above sea level.

Occasionally well preserved sea shells dropped from the formation and rolled toward the bottom of the ravine. Most of the stone-like formations were conglomerations of fossiliferous materials that had been living creatures some 70 million years ago in a sea that once covered Mississippi. But our shovel corralled no seahorses.

Mitchell related as we worked that his mother had told him of contacts by geologists at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington and a University in California concerning fossil deposits on the Mitchell place. Smithsonian reportedly did some blasting in the hills there to remove fossil-bearing strata, with some of the specimens retained by that institution.

As we gather up a heavy load of marine fossils to carry with us, Mitchell told of a couple from Vancouver that had visited the property and dug out seashells of great antiquity much to their delight.

Northeast Mississippi is an especially advantageous place for fossil hunting, and inventories by the Mississippi Geological Survey over the past half century have brought the locations of many deposits to public attention.

Even more accessible than farmland deposits are those which are exposed at railroad and highway embankment cuts.

After bringing the recently dug fossils to the Jackson Survey office for appraisal, they were described as varying forms of sea creatures with names too long and complex for reporting in this article.

One thoroughly fascinating aspect of fossil hunting is the fact that no one can predict where or when the earth will yield her best preserved fossil remains. Most fossils found here are mineralized hard parts of animals such as clams, insects or vertebrates—or just impressions of them left in soil turned to stone.

The younger fossil organisms from the last 50 to 60 million years sometimes may contain original skeletal composition, but must have been recrystallized or replaced by minerals. Silica and iron pyrites are among the most common replacement materials.

Some fossils, however, are in the form of an empty cavity where a creature once was, but whose physical remains long since have disappeared leaving only the surrounding mold.

I reckon that is what has happened to James Mitchell's seahorses—or else they still are cut off at the pass—about 80 feet down.

NO AG ISOLATIONISM

More and more American farmers are getting the message that there no longer is a local anesthetic available in the traditional method of an often politically inspired national farm program which farmers may take in several forms to ease the throbbing pains of an ailing international economy.

Today the agricultural illness knows no geographic bounds. When surplus crops glut the American markets the repercussions are felt throughout the world.

When the U.S. farmers try to exert self discipline through such voluntary compliance programs as PDK or other set-aside arrangements, the effects on the world market are no more effective in the long run than giving one dog a rabies shot and expecting all dogs to somehow show up with immunity.

A recent economic perspective on the history of U.S. farm programs prepared by the economic research division of the American Farm Bureau Federation points out the basic fallacies of trying to mend the problems, now reaching drastic proportions in American agriculture, through U.S. governmental programs when it simply cannot be done as before in today's world.

It is not facing up to reality, the report reveals, for U.S. farmers to ask the government to guarantee them commodity prices with a built-in profitability above the cost of production when the rest of the world is mainly concerned about their own economies.

For instance, when U.S. farmers cut their production in an effort to reduce world supplies and thereby bring about higher prices, then competing nations often increase their plantings in order to profit from our restraints. As a result, world supplies are not reduced and world market prices are not enhanced.

The American Farm Bureau economic study points out that there is no justification to ask the U.S. congress to artificially create farm prices at a level determined by the cost of production plus a guaranteed profit even though some farm groups have clamored for this to be done.

Today this nation stands at the crossroads of farm program policies. One option is to reject market realities and accept politically determined price levels and a supply management program similar to that of the European Community.

And another more realistic but less popular alternative is to deal with market realities

Hancock volunteers add to Air Force recruiting

Thirty-five people volunteered for the Air Force during fiscal year 1983 from Hancock and Pearl River County, according to TSgt Hewitt, Air Force recruiter in Gulfport.

Nationwide, Air Force recruiters met both enlisted and officer recruiting goals for the first time since the beginning of the All Volunteer Force in 1973, TSgt Hewitt said.

Except for fiscal 1979, recruiters have met all the enlisted recruiting goals. However, they have traditionally specialists in the officer recruiting programs, he said.

Almost 68,000 people joined the Air Force in all recruiting programs nationwide during fiscal 1983. About 60,500 enlisted without prior military service of which 98 percent were high school graduates. Also enlisting were over 3,000 people with prior military service.

College graduates entering Officer Training School at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, numbered 3,161 and 812 health care professionals received direct commissions in the Air Force Medical Service. Another 369 received health professions scholarships.

During the next 12 months, Air Force recruiters will seek about 65,000 people in all programs to volunteer for service to country in today's high technology Air Force.

About 60,000 young people without prior military service will be needed; 1,000 with prior military service, 3,500 college graduates for officer training including 715 engineering graduates, and more than 700 health professionals. Additionally, about 330 health professions scholarships will be awarded to students enrolled in or accepted for enrollment in an approved school of medicine or osteopathy.

QUESTIONS

Q. My husband was in the hospital for 3 weeks. After he was discharged, he stayed home for almost a month before he had to go back for the same illness. How much of the hospital bill will Medicare pay?

A. After the $304 deductible has been paid in a benefit period, Medicare hospital insurance will help pay for 90 days of inpatient care in any hospital taking part in Medicare. For the first 60 days, it pays for all covered services except for $76 a day. After a person has been out of the hospital for 60 days, a new benefit period begins the next time he or she goes into the hospital.

Q. My 16 year old son needs a kidney transplant but has never worked under Social Security. Although I have worked under Social Security all my life, I am not old enough to retire. Can I get Medicare help for my son?

A. Whether or not you get benefits, if you have worked long enough under Social Security or the railroad retirement system, your husband or wife or your dependent child will be eligible for Medicare if he or she needs maintenance dialysis or transplant surgery because of permanent kidney failure.

Q. My son is severely mentally retarded and will never be able to support himself. Even though I earn $20,000 a year, it is difficult to pay all his special expenses and support the rest of my family. Does my son qualify for SSI benefits?

A. That question cannot be answered without knowing more facts. The number of people living in the household and their incomes and resources will be considered in deciding whether or not your son qualifies for SSI. Once a child reaches age 18, his or her parents' assets are no longer considered in deciding if the child can get SSI.

graduate, and Tammy Jines. Midshipman Collins is majoring in naval architecture and expects to graduate from the academy in 1984. (Naval Academy photo)

Growing Child

During the second year of life, children are beginning to develop some independence, and this can be a trial for parents, according to Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter.

anger he feels may frighten him. Instead of physical punishment, some parents use words—"I won't love you anymore," "You'll be the death of me," "You make me and child feed the flames of each others' passions, precipitating a vicious cycle. If there's another way of obtaining a child's cooperation, why not use it? We know that a child intuitively wants to be good and please his parents. By reflecting his thoughts back to him, he can save face: "I know you're angry, and I know how you feel. You don't want to put away the toys. You want to play. Come, let's put them away together."

Remember, not every cause must be resolved or every moral drawn. It's important to make allowances for individual differences and feelings. It is not too soon to set clear-cut, definite and reasonable limits. But avoid unnecessary confrontations which result from too many "no's," "don't touch," and "stop."

The Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month-by-month. For more information and a free sample of the newsletter, write to Growing Child, P. O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Indiana 47902. Include child's birthday when writing.

DRUG QUIZ

by Curt Scarborough, Ph.D. Used by permission; all rights reserved by DATE, St. Louis, Mo.

QUESTION—Psychological dependence (habituation) is the result of repeated consumption of a drug which produces a desire (not a compulsion) to continue taking drugs for a sense of improved well-being. Which of the following drugs has the highest potential for producing psychological dependence?

- a) Cocaine
- b) Codeine

c) Marijuana
d) Tranquilizers
ANSWER—All drugs (including the legal recreational ones: alcohol, caffeine, and nicotine) have the potential of producing psychological dependence. Of the drugs listed, cocaine is the most habituating.

Correct answer—a.
For further information about alcohol and drug abuse write: Dr. Paul G. Jones, II, Executive Director, Christian Action Commission, P.O. Box 530, Jackson, MS 39205.

Many, many children this age have strong wills, and know quite a few ways to manipulate parents. Some of these are being very negative, refusing to eat or sit on the toilet, go to sleep or cooperate generally.

But punishing a child this age is a tricky situation. A two-and-a-half-year-old will probably be angry with you over the punishment, and the sick." These can be equally destructive. The child grasps the parent's anger from the intonation and voice if not from the actual words. He doesn't know that anger is temporary and that angry feelings are normal for him as well as for his parents. He learns to imitate aggression, which often takes the form of tantrums. Thus parent

Fire Equipment Funds
The Mississippi Forestry Commission expects to have approximately $50,000 in Federal Funds available for FY 84 for small matching grants to rural communities to assist them in obtaining needed firefighting equipment, according to an announcement this week by State Forester Robert S. Moss.

The grants will be issued under the Rural Community Fire Protection Program (RCFP) as authorized under PL 95-113. This will be the ninth year Mississippi has received funds for such grants which are limited to a maximum of $2,000 per community.

"Communities or fire departments interested in securing one of the RCFP grants would be well-advised to take prompt action in this regard," says Curt Fulgham, Fire Control Forester for the Commission.

ETV Brief

OTHELLO
Production is under way at Mississippi ETV on a half-hour program featuring John Butler's ballet "Othello." Video taping of the ballet was completed last week as well as interviews with Butler and the principal dancers.

Rural communities of under 10,000 population are eligible for the funds. In the event the expected Federal funds are not received by the Forestry Commission, all applicants will be notified as soon as possible. Application forms may be secured from Curt Fulgham, Fire Control Forester, 908 Robert E. Lee Building, Jackson, Ms. 39201, or from Commission District Offices at Tupelo, Philadelphia, Bay Springs, Wiggins, Brookhaven, Rolling Fork and Elliott. Completed applications must be returned to Fulgham by 5 p.m., Jan. 3, 1984.
